

Audiopipe's Next Top Model

Through the course of the last 6 years Audiopipe has featured "Nicole Hagman" as the company's spokes model. She is recently engaged and will now pursue a new profession. "Nicole has been a great asset for our company", says Audiopipe's President Gonzi Palenzuela, "she represented very well our fresh and cutting edge life style look." "I will miss her greatly as she had become part of our family." Seen at shows such as International CES, Daytona Spring Break Nationals, and Distributor shows such as "M&M, The Wholesale House, and East Coast" Nicole became more than a model by getting to know the Audiopipe customers. Audiopipe will now be looking for a new model that can provide the same excitement and professional standard that Nicole Hagman did.

Please stay tuned to see who wins Audiopipe's next top model!